DAHLIAS

(New Jersey Grown)

In presenting our 1924 catalog, it is with sincere appreciation of the generous support given us by our many friends and customers.

It is gratifying to know that many of our introductions have become quite popular and rank among the best.

For the season of 1924 we are introducing four new varieties, three of which we have given local Indian names, and one has been named Mrs. John M. Root

This dahlia created a sensation at the Philadelphia, Pa. and the Collingswood, N. J. Shows the past season and won the coveted Penn. Hort. Society Silver Medal for the best three year old seedling.

We believe that every dahlia listed here has true Merit, regardless of the place or time of its origin.

Dahlias can be grown in most any climate or soil condition, although, a light sandy loam seems to be the best. Plant the tubers about four to six inches deep in well prepared soil, to which only a little bone-meal has been added, later when the buds begin to set, top dress with sheep manure and repeat about every ten days or two weeks until frost.

Do not make the mistake of over feeding thereby softening the blooms and reducing the vitality of the plant.

Bear in mind, it is not the size of the tuber planted, but the quick establishment of the new root system, that will give the best results.

The prices quoted on the following pages are for field grown tubers, guaranteed to be healthy and true to name and will be shipped Post paid, at the proper time for planting.

The names are arranged in alphabetical order and the following abbreviations are used:—C—Cactus; H.C.—Hybrid Cactus; D.—Decorative; Sh.—Show;—P. Paeony flowered; H.D.—Hybrid decorative.

Mrs. John M. Root—H.C. (J. M. R.) 1924 Introduction. An enormous canary yellow hybrid cactus. One of the largest dahlias ever grown. The petals are long, broad and slightly twisted giving the flower great diameter and depth. The bush growth is remarkable, plants attaining a height of six to seven feet, holding the massive blooms well above your head. It won the Penna. Hort. Society Silver Medal in 1922 for the best two year old seedling, and again in 1923 for the best three year old seedling, also won first in class calling for the best vase of twenty-five blooms and repeated this winning at the Collingswood, N. J. Show. At Trevoise, Pa., it took a special prize for the largest bloom in the Show. At the American Dahlia Society's Southern Trial Grounds, College Park, Md. it won the "Certificate of Merit" in 1923 with a score of eighty-nine, also the "Certificate of Merit" at the California Dahlia Society's Trial Ground, Berkley, California in 1923. $25.00

NEW AND STANDARD VARIETIES

- Adia—D. Deep Maroon, large full flowers carried on long rigid stems. . $1. 00
- Aibonita—D. An immense flower of a bright glowing pink shading to a rich golden yellow at the center. The formation is unusual on account of the great depth of the petal and fulness of the flower. $2. 50
- Amarillo—D. One of the best yellow decoratives. $1. 00
- Ambassador—C. The color is a soft yellow buff, shaded salmon pink; flowers of pleasing form and of enormous size. The flowers are held erect above the foliage on strong stems. $7. 50
- Amber Glow—C. Bright yellow deepening to pale orange at center. . . $1. 00
- Amun Ra—D. An entirely new formation of immense size, resembling in color a glorious setting sun. The colors are copper and orange, deepening in the full center to a rich, dark, reddish brown. This dahlia creates a sensation wherever shown. $5. 00
- Anna Maier—D. A huge decorative of most peculiar coloring, one of those shades so difficult to do justice too in description. A pinkish red, like old velvet, varying to soft yellowish red toward the center. The blossoms are borne aloft on long wiry stems well above the foliage. $1. 50
- Attraction—H. C. Flowers of large size; clear rosy lilac, strong stems and good bloomer, one of the very best cut flower dahlias.75
- Azalea—D. Color soft, creamy yellow with apricot shades. A large and beautiful flower.75
- Barbara Latz—P. This variety is very large and free in bloom, and is very showy in its soft lemon yellow tones, fine stem $2. 00
- Bashful Giant—D. One of the largest dahlias ever produced and excellent for exhibition purposes. The color is apricot with golden shadings, a very beautiful flower. $5. 00
